

Research/Evidence-Based Practices: Birth through Grade 3

MISSION
The variety and quality of experiences during the first eight years of life provide the essential foundation for each child's future success. The purpose of this resource is to ensure continuity of practice among families, educators, and community partners that leads to optimal conditions for learning.
GOAL
Professionals and stakeholders will understand and implement research-based, developmentally appropriate practices, ensuring alignment birth through third grade.
STAKEHOLDERS
Children, Families, Community Partners, District Administrators, Principals/Site Administrators, Teaching Team, Child Care Providers, Service Providers, Higher Education

BIRTH TO GRADE 3 ALIGNMENT TARGET
Knowing about Child Development and Learning It is essential that the school, community, and families embrace the birth to Grade 3 learning continuum that builds a strong foundation of supports for children with a deeper understanding of appropriate teaching practices to help children be engaged and successful learners Knowing What Is Individually Appropriate Understanding what children know and can do, how they process information, solve problems, and how they interact with other children and adults, guides student learning and growth along the birth to third grade learning continuum Knowing What Is Culturally Appropriate Educators must accept the legitimacy of children's home language, respect (hold in high regard) the home culture, and promote and encourage the active involvement and support of all families, including extended and nontraditional family units" (NAEYC 1995, 2)

Example Implementation Indicators	Data Collection and Analysis Options	Resources	Evidence
Superintendents, Principals, Teachers, Staff, and Community-based Partners <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Understanding of what young children, birth through third grade, need to know and be able to do A learning continuum that supports individual children's continuous progress from year to year Ongoing communication with families A shared responsibility for children's learning Instruction and curriculum that includes alternatives to make it accessible and applicable to individual students with different backgrounds, learning styles, and abilities Know about whole child (ways they learn best, environment they thrive in, movement needs) Focus on child and family strengths Ongoing two-way communication with child's family Engaged in formative assessment cycle which includes a feedback loop The unique needs of children and families, including the cultural and linguistic backgrounds are considered A welcoming environment and sense of belonging that cultivates a shared responsibility for children's learning from birth to Grade 3 Support each child's development within the family as complex and culturally-driven ongoing experiences A culture of intentionality around increasing school's level of cultural competence so that it is understood that cultural competence is an integral part of providing a high-quality program Families <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Familiar with educational standards and how they are used in school Support child's learning at home Ongoing two-way communication with school personnel Actively work with school personnel to ensure that they are given meaningful opportunities to participate in the program 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Focus group Observations Self-assessments Document review and alignment analysis Tracking Professional Learning activities Family participation in conferences and other school events Family responsiveness to school communications School responsiveness to family communications A data-shared method to keep families informed of child's developmental and academic progress Feedback surveys from stakeholders (parents, teachers, K and Preschool, administrators) related to developmentally appropriate practices 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> NAEYC DAP Position Statement 2009 Math and Literacy alignment Early Childhood, PreK-1 Resource Book: NAEYC DAP Book National Association for the Education of Young Children Message in a Backpack-Communication for Families Contact local Great Start Collaborative Representative or Quality Resource Center Harvard Family Research Project-Early Childhood NAEYC Early Childhood Academic Rigor Early Childhood Standards of Quality K-3 Essential Instructional Practices in Early Literacy Prekindergarten Essential Instructional Practices in Early Literacy High Quality Pre K-3 in the age of Common Core Closing the Achievement Gap on Academic Performance Birth to College Collaborative Tool Kit What is Universal Design for Learning? Formative Assessment: Guide for Early Childhood Policymakers Strengthening Families Program Quality Benchmark for Cultural Competence Project Promoting Cultural and Linguistic Competency Self Assessment National Education Association Diversity Resources 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Every child experiences success Schools are ready for children by providing a welcoming environment Lesson plans and observations reflect developmentally appropriate practices and align with standards Administrators and school staff are proactive by providing a welcoming and inclusive environment for families and timely sharing of information on child development, where their child is on trajectory, and how collaboration contributes to success. Curriculum, pedagogy and developmental continuum are aligned* Strategies are provided to support parents in understanding the importance of children's attitude towards school and learning. Formative assessments that are tied to planned individual instruction Learning environment is conducive to the whole child Teachers who are highly trained in the use of formative assessment and individualization School personnel conduct home visits prior to the start of school School personnel meet with previous teacher to discuss individual needs of child and family Articulated communication expectations for staff and families Regular communication and meetings between staff and families regarding student progress seeking input from families Professional development plans for staff include trainings on communication with diverse families (translation, interpretation, use of cultural mediators, and other cultural and family practices) and understanding of the cultural practices relative to children served (CLASP) School personnel work to ensure that communication with families about their child's assessment findings is sensitive to family values, culture, identity, and home language (NAEYC) Program staff members are aware of culture's influence on their own beliefs and practices Communication methods to family and staff (parent handbook, policy manual, newsletters, etc.) must be translated into the preferred language of families of children enrolled in the program

ecan
Early Childhood Administrators Network

<http://gomaisa.org/early-childhood-administrators-network>

Wayne RESA
33500 Van Born Road • Wayne, MI 48184
734.334.1300 • 734.334.1620 FAX • www.resa.net

Board of Education
James S. Beri • Kenneth E. Berlinn • Mary E. Blackmon
Lynda S. Jackson • James Petrie
Randy A. Liepa, Ph.D., Superintendent

Wayne RESA
Leading... Learning for All

SERVICE LEADERSHIP COLLABORATION EXCELLENCE